

Drake Schmudlach – Student of the Month for January, 2011

Drake is the senior son of Mark and Julie Schmudlach of Carthage. While a student at Illini West, he has been a consistent member of the honor roll. Extracurricular wise, Drake has been a member of the football, basketball, baseball and track teams. As a junior Drake was named to the West Central All Conference 1st Team in basketball and he received the same award during the last 3 football seasons. Through different media outlets, Drake has received numerous player of the week awards.

Away from school, Drake is a member of the Burnside Christian Church where he helps with communion and offering duties. He also works at the Hancock County Health Department through the Illini West High School Vocational Coop program.

Drake's future plans include attending a college or university to play football with an undecided major.
